SOCIAL SECURITY SET-UP NO BARGAIN FOR YOUNG WORKER

It has often been said that old men create wars for young men to fight. But regardless of the validity of this long standing claim, it now appears that old men are voting larger and larger Social Security benefits for their contemporaries and putting the financing burden on the young.

Under Social Security, a man retiring this year will "break even" within 3½ years. At most, he and his employer have contributed $5,235 on his behalf in 31 years.

On the other hand, a 25-year-old starting work this year and paying the maximum tax for the next 40 years, may not get "fair return" even if he outlives Methuselah despite paying six times as much.

This young man and his boss will contribute $31,293.60, during the four decades (not counting the Medicare portion) under maximum rates passed recently by Congress. Accumulating interest at the low rate of 4 per cent per year, this would grow to $73,275 by the time the employee is 65.

To deplete such a fund in maximum Social Security benefits, a man and his wife would have to live past his 98th birthday. Benefits would be little more than the interest, at first.

However, if he is single or a widower at age 65, he cannot possibly recover his equity in payments. His maximum monthly benefit of $218 would be less than the interest that would accrue on $73,275, so he could draw this amount indefinitely without even touching the principal. Even Methuselah, reputed to have lived 969 years, would have been short-changed by this plan.

This startling prospect for today's young worker is revealed in a study by the research staff of the National Federation of Independent Business. It shows that while Social Security is a boon to many Americans now drawing benefits, today's young worker will pay a premium tax to support his elders.

Even discounting 20 per cent of the Social Security taxes to cover the disability and survivors' insurance portions of the plan, today's young people will have to defy life expectancy tables to collect in retirement benefits more than a fraction of the contributions made in their behalf.

Discounting this 20 per cent, maximum employee - employer contributions for the next 40 years will be $25,036 which, at 4 per cent interest, would swell to $58,620.

Comparable figures for the first 31 years of Social Security are $4,188 and $6,201. In both cases, these are maximum figures without Medicare. On the minimum side, it is possible that someone whose employee-employer tax amounted to no more than $30 (with interest) is now receiving benefits.

The Social Security tax paid by the employee and matched by his employer began in 1937 as 1 per cent of the first $3,000 of annual income, or a maximum tax of $30 on each. It remained that way for 13 years, but has increased at an accelerating pace in the last decade. Ten years ago, the maximum was $94, three years ago it was $174, and today it is $304.20, not counting half a per cent ($39) for Medicare.

Since the current rate (without Medicare) is 3.9 per cent of the first $7,800 of income, and this will reach 5.1 within five years, today's young wage-earner may well pay 5 per cent of his lifetime earnings to Social Security. And his boss will pay an equal amount.

Under present law, passed in December, if his income remains at or above $7,800 a year, today's young employee will personally pay $15,645.55 in the next four decades... six times the maximum.

COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

The Assessors will be in session April 1 from 11 a. m. to 5 p. m. to receive lists of property from taxpayers.

At the Planning Board meeting Tuesday evening a petition was presented to abolish all zoning in the town of Bethel. The Board considered several requests for changes in the zoning code.

There will be a public meeting after the first of April to discuss these proposed changes prior to a special town meeting.

Bids have been requested from six dealers for a pick-up and dump truck. The bids are to be in by April 15. Delivery will take from six to eight weeks after they are awarded.

I would like to remind citizens again of the meeting at 7:30 p. m., on Monday, March 25, when the proposed sewage disposal system will be discussed. There are important decisions to be made relative to this matter and taxpayers should be as well informed as possible when it comes time to vote on the issues.

SHC NIGHT PATROL ENDS 14th SEASON FRIDAY

The State Highway Commission will at 8 a. m. Friday discontinue for the season the winter night patrol and special radio coverage, except in Aroostook County. The patrols in the northern section of the state will continue an additional two weeks.

If deemed necessary by SHC division engineers, patrols may also be continued until April 5 on Interstate 95 and some heavily-travelled sections of U. S. 1 or other major highways.

Plows and sanding equipment will not be dismantled for another several weeks. If there should be an accumulation of snow from a spring storm, Highway Commission supervisors and foremen will call out plowing crews to clear the highways.

The winter patrols began their duties on November 18. They carried out a nightly tour along 2,000 miles of Maine highways, including 215 miles of Interstate Highway. Their major responsibility was to alert the plowing and sanding crews when a storm began to move into the state. Patrolmen carried enough sand in their trucks to cover short icy sections of road in dangerous locations. The men also assisted motorists in distress during the hours when aid is not readily available.

Information about driving conditions was radioed by patrolmen into highway division offices and made available to press, radio and TV stations, as well as the general public, around the clock.

The SHC will resume the night patrol and road condition information service for the next winter season during the latter part of November.

Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Barker visited Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Doyen at South Portland over Saturday night and all attended the flower show at Boston on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Brooks Whitehouse and family of Nahant, Mass., spent the week end in town skiing. Mrs. Whitehouse and children are staying on for a longer visit.

Mrs. Ruby Huston, who has been working for Miss Mary Stanley, has finished her work there and has returned home. Miss Stanley is able to walk a little now in the house.

PLANNING BOARD MEETS — ORGANIZE FOR COMING YEAR

The Bethel Planning Board held its first meeting of the current year Tuesday evening at the Selectmen's Office.

Discussion during the session revolved around several changes in the zoning code that may be proposed at a special town meeting along with a request by petition to abolish all zoning in the town. The petition had been signed by some 200 voters of the town. A public hearing to discuss the article submitted by petition, as well as a request to rezone land along the easterly side of Route 2 in Mayville, and such proposals as the Planning Board may make is expected to be announced soon, to be held on a date in early April.

It is also planned that the Board will cause to be published a series of articles explaining the purposes of zoning in Bethel and the reasons for regulation of property use in specified areas. It was also felt that a recommendation should be made to the Zoning Board of Appeals that they consider the adoption of guidelines under which exceptions would be granted in the several zones of the town. As a point of information it is noted that in the four zones a total of 11 uses are permitted by exception only.

Before the close of the meeting the group selected officers for the ensuing year. Henry Hastings, who has served as chairman for several years, stated that he did not feel that he could devote sufficient time another year, and suggested that a change might be in order. Mrs. Ruth Ames declined another term as secretary. Mrs. Patricia Hudson was named chairman, with Wilbur Myers to serve as secretary. Mr. Myers, a new member of the board, succeeds Norris Brown on the panel.

Shortly, the Board plans to announce a schedule of regular monthly meetings, with special sessions as circumstances warrant.

Attending the Tuesday evening meeting were: Mr. Hastings, Mrs. Ames, Mrs. Hudson, Mr. Myers, of the Planning Board, Carroll Valentine, associate member of the Board; James Hudson, chairman, John Brown, James Hutchins, of the Board of Selectmen; Elwyn Dickey, town manager; Barbara Godwin, Stanley Moore, Susan Lovejoy, Ferol Godwin, and Frank Lowell.

LION'S CLUB TO MEET

The Bethel Lion's Club will hold a regular meeting at 8:30 Wednesday, March 27, at the Bethel Masonic building on Chapman Street.

A PASSING THOUGHT

If in fact a "credibility gap" exists, it might be well to remember that communication is a two-sided coin. To be effective, one must talk and one must listen. If the old adage "None so blind as those that will not see," is true, then "None so deaf as those that will not listen," is also true. It is perhaps more succinctly stated in Jeremiah V, 21: "O foolish people, and without understanding; which have eyes and see not; which have ears, and hear not."

Remember you can't learn when your mouth is working. You learn when it is closed and your ears are working.

SUNDAY RIVER

— Mrs. R. M. Fleet, Cor. —

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Armstrong of Berlin, N. H., called at R. M. Fleet's Saturday for a few eggs for a school project.

Bryce Yates' big truck is taking another vacation in a garage for repairs.

Mrs. Barbara Yates was in Andover helping redecorate a house for her father and mother.

Mrs. Lina Reynolds was home over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryce Yates and children visited her parents at Andover Sunday.

Our gray squirrel family added three new members to their breakfast table the other morning. They seemed very small and afraid, so guess they have not fared very well.

Sunday River Sunday School will open at nine-thirty on March 24, weather favorable. We have new material and program to try. Hope all will be with us. We also hope parents and friends will make us a few surprise visits as we hope to meet every other week until next Christmas.

Well, when I looked out Sunday morning I was surprised to see the summer bath tubs filled up and the temperature in the forties. Quite different from minus four Friday. It has been a rainy foggy day.

Mr. and Mrs. Estes Yates visited her sister, Mrs. Alma Whitman at the Pike's Hill nursing home and found her quite good. She was up and about.

Mr. and Mrs. Estes Yates called on Mr. and Mrs. Herman Cole at Bryant Pond, Saturday.

"You can throw the whole weight of your anxieties upon Him, for you are His personal concern," Phillips' paraphrase of 1 Peter 5:7

"Casting all your care upon Him; for He careth for you," King James Version.

"Have you one anxious thought you do not bring to Jesus? Have you one care you deem too light, too small to lay before Him? It is then too small to give you one moment's concern. Either cast your care upon Him who careth for you, or cast it away from you altogether. If it be unfit for His sympathy, it is unworthy of you." Selected.

SOCIAL SECURITY NO BARGAIN FOR YOUNG

mum paid by anyone now receiving benefits.
Today's young employee may be asked to pay even more, for Congress has repeatedly increased the tax base or rate, or both. Thus, while the tax base is now fixed at $7,800 indefinitely, Congress has heard proposals for a $10,000 or even $15,000 base. Last year, the Senate approved a $10,800 base for 1972 and thereafter, but yielded to conservative House members in the final version of the new Act.

In 1954, the maximum tax scheduled for 1968 was set at 3 per cent of $3,600, or $108. But subsequent Congressional action almost tripled this.

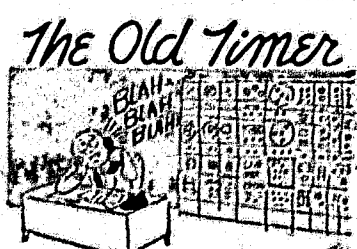

It may be argued that today's young people will receive much higher benefits than now provided by law by the time they are eligible for pensions, since benefits have also been increased frequently by Congress. But higher benefits and higher taxes have gone hand-in-hand, and it is doubtful that the ratio now facing young people will change much. The grim fact is that, after 31 years of payroll deductions, Social Security fund reserves remain at an amount less than one year's benefit payments. Current benefits are heavily dependent upon current tax revenue.

Furthermore, many experts in the field believe that the Social Security tax rate is approaching a practical limit. The combined employee-employer tax including Medicare will reach 11.8 per cent within 13 years.

Financing much higher benefits 40 years hence may thus prove impractical. An alternative proposal, suggested by Professor Colin D. Campbell of Dartmouth College, is to finance higher benefits from the general revenue of the Federal government. This was proposed by Senator Winston Prouty, Vermont, but defeated, in the Senate last year.

Suppose our young man does live to the age of 65. (It is possible, by the way, for him to die leaving no qualified dependents and no one will receive any benefit, except the burial allowance of $200.) Average life expectancy at age 65 is now 14 years. Withdrawing annual amounts equal to maximum old-age benefits from a $58,620 fund drawing 4 per cent interest would still leave some $28,000 in principal after 14 years.

The Social Security Administration disputes this reasoning, asserting that a person can receive back his tax contributions if he lives a full life expectancy after reaching 65. However, the agency uses only the employee tax for its computation, and ignores any reasonable allowance for interest. The employer's tax is an im-

INSTITUTE ON TEACHING THE DISTURBED CHILD TO BE HELD JULY 8-26

Applications are due by April 15 from elementary and secondary school teachers who would like to attend a University of Maine Summer Session Institute on Teaching the Emotionally Disturbed Child.

Dr. Arthur M. Kaplan, professor and head of the U. M. department of psychology, said the Institute, which is being held in conjunction with the State Department of Education, would be held on the Orono campus from July 8 to 26.

Trainees accepted for the Institute will receive free tuition and stipends of $225, and eligible students may receive three hours of credit on successful completion of the program. Those who are to be considered for participation must have teaching experience in an elementary or secondary school, must intend to be engaged in teaching next year in Maine, must possess a bachelor's degree, and should have previously completed a minimum of nine hours of course work in psychology.

The sessions will combine lectures, discussions and demonstrations, as well as guest lectures. Bernard Charles, regional director for Equal Health Opportunity, will participate throughout the three weeks.

Applications may be obtained from Prof. Kaplan, 301 Little Hall, U. of M., Orono.

portant consideration, however, not only as a cost of doing business, but also because it is money which otherwise might be spent on a private pension plan for the employee.

Social Security is often compared with private insurance or an annuity.

Today's 25-year-old could purchase $50,000 of cash-value "whole life" insurance with the money which will go to the old age benefits portion of Social Security. Or, after banking the money for 40 years, he could purchase an annuity which would pay him $440 a month beginning at age 65; this compares with a future maximum Social Security benefit of $323 if married, or $218 a month if single or widowed.

The conclusion to be drawn is that Social Security is more welfare than insurance, and young people should not view Social Security taxes as dollars put away for their benefit in later years. The taxpayer who works most of his lifetime will pay a substantial amount to provide benefits for others who qualify for full benefits by paying smaller taxes—either because they are older, or because they will not work so many years.

BETHEL YOUTH CENTER SPEAKS TO YOU

L. Westleigh, T. Davis

It was decided among the Bethel youths that they would like a recreational center. This would be a place where they could go freely, during the hours in which it will be open, and participate in games of pool, ping-pong, etc. There would also be allowed space for dancing and also there would be a T. V. room, a place where the youths could get together and have fun. It is hoped that there shall be a snack bar in the center. Thus the center will supply the youths with recreation and a place for them to get together with friends besides along the streets.

A board of directors has been selected. They are as follows: Mr. Seymour Butters, Mrs. Louise Lincoln, Mrs. Sue Farrar, Mr. Sonny Blake, Rev. Stebbins and Rev. Laws. Also the youths on the board are: Alice Smith, Terry Roy, Jeri Brooks, Merrilee Butters, Dave Hanscom, Lenora Westleigh, and Tom Davis. This board will only direct and make plans for the center. As for the success of the center, it will be up to the citizens and their needed support. Until other provisions are made it has been decided and approved by the members of the church to have the Center in the Methodist Church basement, under the conditions that if anything is damaged or marred the Center will be held responsible. Rulings concerning this and conduct, etc., will have to be established. We will also be allowed to use the facilities of the Congregational Church for movies and larger get-togethers. We would like it clearly understood that the center is not connected with the churches except for the use of their facilities. This center is Bethel's Youth Center and shall be treated as such.

The center will be open to all youths including those attending Gould Academy and Telstar next year. There will be adult supervisors on duty at all times. There is quite a need for equipment, a few things have been donated but there is still a great need for more donations. Since it is the Bethel Youth Center it is up to the citizens of Bethel to support it, without your support our efforts will have been wasted. We would appreciate any donations.

This Saturday, March 23, Dave Hanscom and Lenora Westleigh will represent the Youth Center by soliciting from the larger businesses in town. We would greatly appreciate co-operation in making the Youth Center a success.

Watch for an advertisement of a money-making event next week and support your youth center.

FEMININE MUSING

ON "HOW TO BE A SNOB"

With a little practice anyone can be a snob. In fact, many people are snobs without being aware of it. If one directly accused such a person of snobbery, he probably would deny it vehemently.

There are rich snobs, poor snobs, intellectual snobs, pious snobs, racial snobs and hippies; the list is long.

A brief dictionary meaning of a snob is: "one who exhibits servility or insolence according as the circumstances permit."

A true wealthy snob is born that way; his world simply excludes the hoi polloi. On the other hand, there is the nouveau riche. By fair means or foul, he has climbed the financial ladder; on the bottom rung, he was a poor snob. A poor snob is self-explanatory.

An intellectual snob is a cultured man who looks down his nose at the unenlightened brother. A Freshman in college is wont particularly to become an intellectual snob. By the latter part of his Sophomore year, he becomes slightly more bearable.

Although not called a "hippie snob," a hippie is a snob, one of the latest varieties.

My definition of a snob is an adult, who, by accident or design, reaches or remains in a self-restricting category. He is polarized; either smug or insecure, he chooses to communicate with his own snob-society as exclusively as possible. (P. S. After writing this definition, it occurred to me that this also describes our fears and prejudices.)

Obviously, the problem is not how to be a snob; rather, how not to be a snob.

By keeping our heart-lines open to every level, we can communicate with anyone. A snob is, after all, a human being.

CERTIFIED COMFORT

GREENWOOD CITY

Mrs. Collista Morgan, 67, of Greenwood City, did you ever try to sleep with a band of Indians in your basement, painted for the war path and armed with every noisemaker available?

We did one night this week. At first there was a gentle whistle which we knew was the furnace — we thought asking for oil, so oil it got. But as night drew on it no longer gave a gentle whistle or "muttered under its breath" but rattled and appeared to be having the worst kind of argument ending with a wall and a wallop! Then silence which seemed only for a very few minutes. During this time the Indians sat mute waiting, just waiting for another round, another noise.

Thus the night passed, and we vowed we'd have it remedied, come morn. But with the approaching of dawn about 4:00 a. m. the tribe chose to move away. Our troubles were over. It was a relief! Peace and quiet. We dozed off to sleep and forgetfulness for one full undisturbed hour. There is always a brighter side and an hour's time brought it.

Seeing a full moon is not an infrequent sight but finding it looking directly at you as the alarm clock sounds at five in the morning is somewhat fascinating. It seemed to nod and say, "Get up and start another day." It was still quite high above Edgcomb mountain, glowing like an inanimate thing in a dark sky. Twenty minutes later there it was again watching us as we drank our morning coffee and enjoyed our breakfast, talking and even laughing now at the night's experience.

Little by little Mr. Moon crept toward "Old Joe" Mountain until we could see a lonely fir tree silhouetted against its great round face. Then in a moment it disappeared entirely leaving "Edge" and Joe outlined dimly, waiting for the sunrise.

In a short time, from another window I saw its pink glow w-a-y down at the end of the pond greeting Noyes and Patch mountains and even though the thermometer stood on 8 degrees it gave promise of cheer and warmth.

The full moon, the sunrise, the mountains; all platitudes, but in them lie the solutions of many of our problems. Sometimes in our feverish thinking of tomorrow we fail to appreciate today. There will never be a quick panacea to cure our worries. We rush along the highway of life disregarding the landscape, the sunrise, the sunset and gather discontent or worry. Some one said "Luxury consists in having time to spare" — possibly to stop a bit and think? Isn't the world what your mind makes of it? And isn't the final analysis whether it be discontent or joy to be found within yourself? So why concern yourself with the future when the present is so magnificent? Isn't the present the only understandable reality?

Our snows are settling and the rain on Sunday took much of it away.

The Bowens from Massachusetts were here for the week end at their camp.

Grades three and five and their teacher attended Music in Maine in Bethel on Wednesday. Mrs. Minnie Buck substituted for the forenoon.

Mrs. Doris Hayes attended a tea for the teachers of S. A. D. 17 at the home of Supt. and Mrs. Patey after school Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Holt of South Paris were Sunday callers at Leona Holt's.

Mrs. Gordon Morgan was hostess to a style show at her home Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Barbara Immonen was demonstrator.

Robert Holt will be attending school this week in New York.

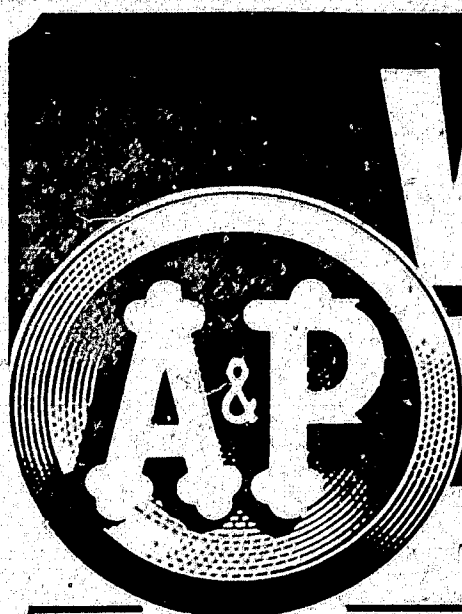

The Hayes Boys and their families visited with Dad and Mom at the Hayes Homestead, Saturday.
